Westerly Oceanquest
First launched in 1998 in excellent order for a boat of this age. This yacht has only had three owners and is well equipped. Standing Rigging replaced 2020, navigation instruments, davit and dinghy to name but a few extra included.

The Oceanquest was designed by Ed Dubois as a spacious family cruiser. They have very good accommodation, with a particularly good double aft cabin in the more common centre cockpit variant, and the solid build quality and generally high standard of interior joinery of the later big Westerly's.

She is a very comfortable and safe cruising yacht which really needs to be seen to be appreciated her quality finish. Viewing highly recommended.

Owners Comments and Service History

The current owners purchased her in 2011 and has treated her as their hobby as well as enjoying many fabulous cruises up and down the west coast of Scotland. She has a fantastic, centreline double aft, cabin, layout and centre cockpit.
At present. She is set out for single-handed sailing with all the main lines led to the cockpit for ease of safety and comfort. She is a very comfortable and safe cruising yacht which really needs to be seen to be appreciated her quality finish.
