Beschreibung

The famous Wally 88 TIKETITOO remains one of the most instantly recognizable sailing yachts afloat, a German Frers performance sloop that fused race-boat DNA with true cruising comfort and rewrote what a modern sailing superyacht could be. Her achievement was recognized far beyond the yachting world: in 2004, TIKETITOO received the ADI Compasso d'Oro, the world's oldest and most prestigious industrial design award. Built entirely in carbon fibre with a canting keel system, TIKETITOO delivers exceptional speed, stability and efficiency under sail, while push-button sailing systems and in-boom furling make her effortless to handle with a reduced crew. Her striking metallic copper finish, carried without compromise across the hull, mast, boom, ropes and sheets, gives her a totalizing design language rarely attempted, and rarely pulled off with this much confidence. Being the only 27m Wally, TIKETITOO stands as a unique and enduring expression of that original vision, an icon within the Wally brand's history. She has recently undergone significant reinvestment: new caulking on the teak deck, new sails, new rigging, fresh paint and a new engine keep her at the sharp edge of ready. Below deck, an interior reconfiguration has created two spacious salons, a newly enlarged lounge with a mirror TV, together with the main saloon, forming one of the largest, most open living spaces found in a performing sailing yacht of this size.The signature 'Terrace on the Sea' extends the saloon outward, dissolving the line between interior and exterior living and creating a connection with the sea rarely found on a sailing yacht.
The central cockpit comfortably dines 8. A new cabin with bunk beds and its own private bathroom, adjacent to the galley, offers flexible guest or crew accommodation.
