Beskrivelse

The Foiler TF10 is a high-performance trimaran that utilizes foil technology to "fly" above the water. With a lightweight construction made of carbon fiber and advanced materials, she achieves extreme speeds and minimal water resistance. Her innovative design and foil system allow her to nearly hover above the water's surface under optimal conditions. The TF10 is particularly suited for competitive racing, offering both high speed and exceptional agility. This trimaran is a prime example of cutting-edge sailing technology and requires a crew with extensive experience in handling such high-speed foiling boats.
