Beschreibung

This Dutch Steel Open Cockpit Cruiser 1350 is a spacious motor yacht with a hull built by Van der Heijden Yachts. Following completion of the hull, the yacht was further finished by her owner and launched in 2025. She is powered by a used Volvo Penta TMD40A diesel engine dating from approximately 1980. The yacht features a spacious open cockpit, comfortable saloon, fully equipped galley, owner's cabin and bathroom. With her practical layout, generous living space and extensive equipment, she is well suited for extended stays on board.
